Ian Lightbody
Secondary Teacher

“ I love to learn and I encourage a love of learning in my students as well. Whether it be travelling to new places, discussing ideas or training to gain new skills, we live in the age of information.

The exploration of ideas and the quest for knowledge is exciting. Whilst at the College I've been encouraged to study, which sets such a great example to my students. I have managed to complete two Masters degrees; develop a deeper understanding of my great passion, astronomy; written a children's book and conducted ground breaking research into shared leadership.

Most importantly though, I love it when I see the flame of learning and discovery growing ever brighter in the students I teach. ”

THE MIND

St John's

A place for INNOVATION

St John's is a collaborative, online, interconnected learning community.

Teachers and students access a sophisticated online learning environment to enhance their classroom learning. Students interact with their course work and their teachers at any time through our supervised learning management system which ensures access and transparency.

Classrooms feature Wi-Fi, data projectors and interactive whiteboards. All secondary students use laptops to aid their learning. The use of information communication technologies in learning motivates students and develops essential skills for their careers and life in a rapidly changing world.

St John's links with business and industry to assist students seeking apprenticeship and traineeship opportunities in the local community. Hospitality students partner with industry hotel management course providers to develop practical experience, while Industrial Design courses offer a pathway to the workplace.

St John's teachers are continuous learners who are enthusiastic about developing their own practice through further study and research.

INNOVATION

St John's

A place for CREATIVITY

Drama, music, dance and the visual arts make a valued contribution to the curriculum from Kindergarten through to Year Twelve. St John's recognises the importance of artistic, imaginative and intuitive ways of knowing in the development of the whole person.

Studying in the Performing Arts requires discipline and commitment and all students have the opportunity to study a band or orchestral instrument through the Instrumental Music Program which commences in the Primary School.

The performance program includes bands, choirs, ensembles, dance excellence teams, drama troupes and musical stage productions. Students regularly perform at local, state and national events and with distinction in eisteddfods and competitions.

Students are offered a diverse range of opportunities from work in the classrooms and studios, to individual specialist tuition and group productions.

St John's students experience first-hand the life and work of practising and performing artists through links with arts industry professionals and intensive workshops with commercial theatre groups, dance companies, the Australian Chamber Orchestra, The University of Queensland and The Queensland Conservatorium of Music.

St John's

CREATIVITY

A place for INSPIRATION

Physical education commences early at St John's. From Kindergarten our children benefit from learning basic physical skills from a specialist teacher. Throughout Prep to Year Two all children enjoy Physical Education classes, swimming lessons, and a Perceptual Motor Program designed to develop coordination, balance and flexibility.

From Year Three the Physical Education program ensures that students are confident to participate in a range of popular sports. Through the JTAS and local district sports competitions, our students are able to participate in a range of major sports and carnivals, and to develop important teamwork skills and values.

The College competes as a member of The Associated Schools (TAS), the premier coeducational sporting association in south east Queensland. TAS offers weekly sporting competition at home and away venues in a wide range of sports for both boys and girls. Students also compete in carnivals in swimming, cross country and athletics, all leading to regional, state and national competitions. Students have access to quality coaching and training sessions and camps, motivating them to achieve at their personal best.

INSPIRATION

St John's

A place for WELL-BEING

From an early age through to the senior years, students are given the opportunity to develop their personal and leadership skills in teams and year levels, through buddy programs, student council and the wide range of service and extension activities in our local and wider community. Ultimately students make application to be considered for leadership positions in the College, an experience that equips them well to be people of influence in later life.

A whole school approach to mental health and well-being involving promotion, prevention and early intervention activities in the curriculum across all year levels is fostered. The program encourages the development of a positive environment where all students feel safe and are actively engaged in developing the social and emotional skills required to meet life's challenges.

Our College is a safe environment in which students feel valued for and proud of their achievements. Student feedback and involvement is regularly sought.

Our son has attended the College for the past 9 years since commencing in Prep and I must say they have been very rewarding. He receives a first-rate education at St John's and is given opportunities to study a wide range of subjects and participate in a myriad of activities. We are very happy with the quality of teaching and find the staff to be both friendly and approachable. All staff work hard to provide students with the tools and values they need to succeed. All this is reflected in our son who is happy to go to school each day and after all, that is the most important thing.

A place for COMMUNITY

“ I look back on my school years at St John’s Anglican College with gratitude and fondness. If it wasn’t for the supportive, understanding and dedicated teachers I would not have had the courage, determination or skills to fulfil my dream.

My years at St John’s ensured I was well prepared for life after school. ”

“ What sets St John’s apart from other educational institutions is that it does not aim to simply provide an education to young people – it exists to develop young people into competent and mature young adults. The College’s central ethos revolves around empowering people of influence and through a diverse curriculum and variety of extra curricular activities, it gives graduates the skills and confidence to lead, whatever their chosen vocation.

People who make a contribution to society: that’s the reason the College exists. ”
